PROHIBITION CUTS DOWN POVERTY IN AMERICAN CITIES

New York.—Prohibition has been a factor in cutting down poverty in families, according to statistics just issued by the American Association for Organizing Family and Social Work of New York and the Family Service Association of New York. Of the 17 cities listed, however, there were more families under care during the "dry year" than in the "wet" year. The association's chairman, Dr. William H. Peterson, declares that figures in the survey which he conducted, prove that there has been a reduction of 85 per cent in the number of families in the poverty zone since prohibition.

"Such good results under partial enforcement," he continued "are significant evidence that prohibition, when properly enforced, does not do what statistics, but they represent human beings made happier by the absence of intoxicants from their lives."

New York city, according to the figures has shown a reduction of 64 percent, the years used being 1917 and 1921. Rochester's reduction is 81 percent; Newburgh's, 90; St. Louis, 94; Chicago, 85; Boston, 91; Pawtucket, 100; Atlantic City, 82; Newport, R. I., 68; Portland, Me., 95; Cleveland, 84; La Crosse, Wis., 91; Portland Ore., 40 percent increase; Hartford, Conn., 93; Washington, D. C., 75; and Providence, R. I., 85.

St. Paul.—A "flapper safe cracker" is being sought by the St. Paul police. Investigation has prompted the police belief that the youthful leader of a bandit gang that robbed the Montgomery, Ward & Company plant here recently was a girl of perhaps 16 years.

Under command of her gun-voice, the other five bandits bound nine plant employees and spent two hours going through the building
finally leaving with only a few guns
and other minor loot.

Fukuoka, Japan.—The department of engineering and medicine of Kyushu Imperial University have been opened to women and a proposal to open the entire school to them is now under consideration. The directors of the school passed a resolution last Saturday allowing women to enter the departments of engineering and medicine and are now considering the second proposal. Dr. Yoshida, president of the school, declared that co-education will soon be arranged for in all of the schools of Japan.

Further repairs on the First Presbyterian church building will be started at once, it was decided by a special committee. Thursday night. Some repairs on the outside are now in progress and it was decided to start redecorating the auditorium and the Sunday school rooms Monday, the work to last four weeks. A new heating plant will be installed.

MODERN HOUSE ON WHEELS ATTRACTS

WHEELS ATTRACT MUCH ATTENTION

A mansion on wheels is parked at the Janesville tourist camp and is being visited by many Janesville people. It has most of the comforts of home and many that most homes haven't. It is lighted by all the different kinds of artificial illumination known to man—electric, gas, oil, candle, and daylight.

The house is 32 feet long, eight feet wide, and 11 feet four inches high. There is a porch, parlor, dining room,

An electric lighting system is carried. The house has 14 windows and three doors, and accommodates E. Buchheim, J. A. Daleiden and H. Stack. It was built by M. H. Daleiden, Bloomington, Ill., who spent two years on it.

In this announcement and others to be printed, the mission is to acquaint the people of this community with the history, growth and purposes of the J. C. Penney Company, and to briefly outline its policies and methods and its aspirations to be of real service and a factor in local civic and mercantile circles.

J. J. Perry & Co.

THE story of the J. C. Penney Company is an important chapter in the history of modern mercantile methods. It is more than important! It is inspiring! It is a story of a business with a Big Idea behind it—an Idea that is clean, clear cut! The Big Idea in this business has been for 20 years and is today, the patent fact that it is unfailingly governed by the Golden Rule: "Whatsoever ye would that Men should do to you, do ye even to them." Every customer pays the one and same price; no more, no less! And that one and same price assures a superior value the year 'round. No sales! No discounts! No charge accounts! The same square deal and just treatment alike to all!

Department stores, as they are known today, are primarily an American institution. While the Bon Marche and the Magasin du Louvre were flourishing in Paris before this country adopted the idea, the late A. T. Stewart of New York City, was the real pioneer in establishing the kind of department store known today. This was in 1861. His efforts were far more comprehensive and audacious, and success, unknown up to that time, was the reward he enjoyed. Later, R. H. Macy, also of New York, followed him and he also quickly won fame and success. Both stores are thriving today, the Stewart store having been absorbed many years ago by John Wanamaker.

Comparatively small localized systems of fewer than thirty stores were in operation in the late nineties, but it was not until the foundation of the J. C. Penney Company system was laid in 1902 that the Idea was transfixed into what was to become one of National import.

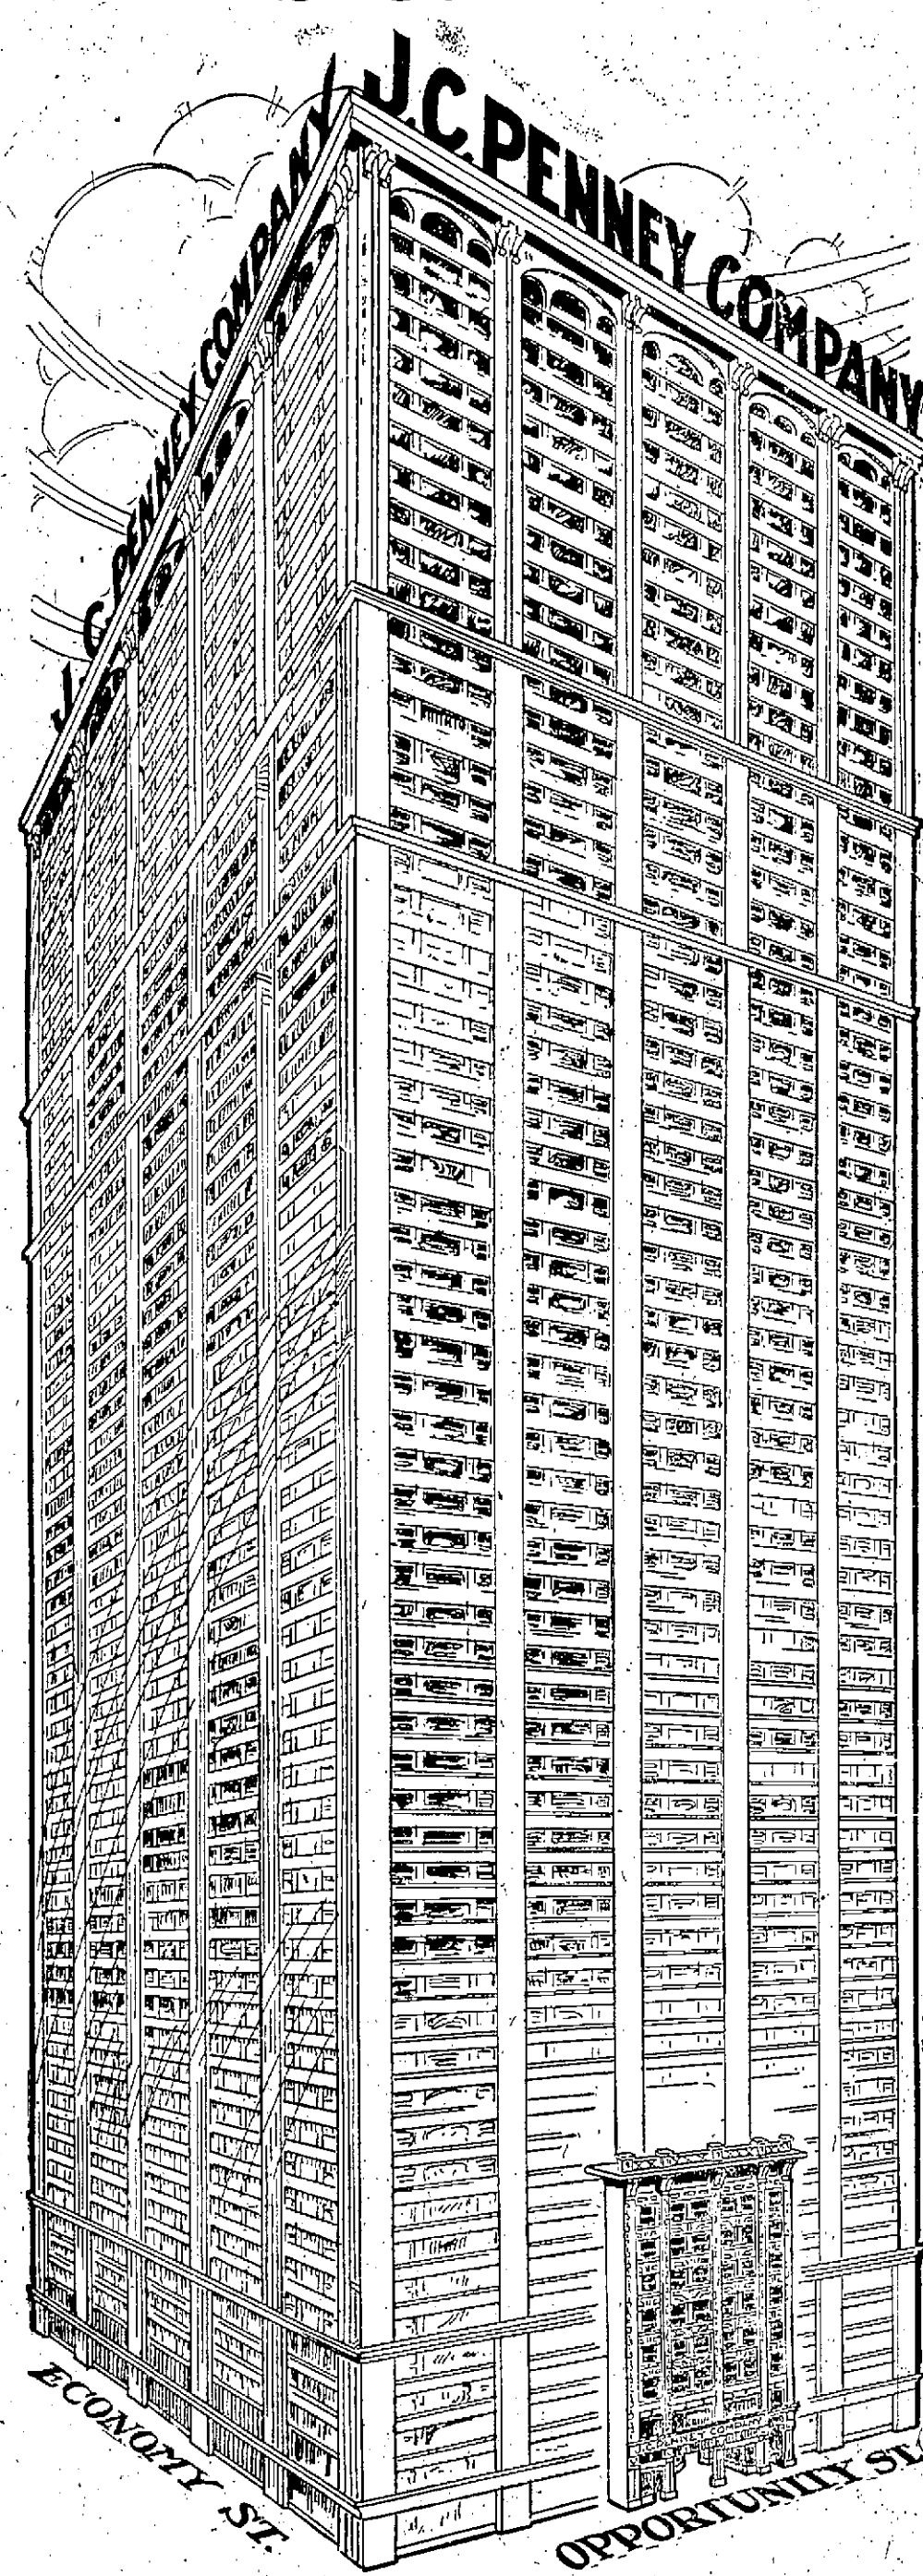

This system of Department Stores has grown from one Store in 1902 to 371 Stores in 29 States in 1922. In the short span of 20 years, it has spread out its influence and affluence from the Pacific to the Atlantic until today the Company stands without a peer in the whole pursuit of chain department storekeeping. It is today indisputably the "World's largest chain department store organization." It serves more than a million customers.

If the entire floor space in the 371 Department Stores of the Company were merged into one structure and that building was set down in this Community, what an imposing sight it would make! The building shown in this announcement, is our artist's conception of a composite picture of a proposition so gigantic.

OBITUARY
Ambrose Hare, Delavan.
Delavan.—Ambrose Hare, 78, former Mayor of Delavan, died at his home here at midnight Friday, after being in poor health several months. Mr. Hare was born in Canada, Jan. 20, 1846, and came to Richmond with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hare, when there 43 years. He married Charlotte Claxton, two children born to them. They are Mrs. Marie L. Blakeman, Richmond, and Henry, now dead. Another child died in infancy. Mr. Hare has been a resident of Delavan 21 years and served with Co. P, 15th Wisconsin Volunteer company. He was helping Chicago. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at the home, the Rev. Boardman, of the Congregational church officiating. Interment will be made in Richmond cemetery, beside the body of his wife.

CHICAGO GIRLS, ON YELLOWSTONE HIKE, VISIT JANESVILLE
Hiking from Chicago to Yellowstone National Park, three pretty school girls stopped in Janesville long enough Saturday to have dinner. They are the Misses Bernadette Bristol, B. L. Bristol and Mabel E. McCrady.

The girls are attending in Chicago. They left Chicago Friday afternoon, being fortunate enough to get several "lifts" in automobiles. They will make the journey by way of Milwaukee, LaCrosse and St. Paul. Speed will depend on the number of rides they can beg along the way.

KLEIN REFUSES TO TAKE $2,000 IN GOLD
All city checks made payable to Henry C. Klein, chief of police, have been cancelled by order of the firemen's pension board. It was learned Saturday, and they have been credited to him in a special fund at one of the banks. So far, he has refused to cash any of them, claiming he is entitled to a higher pension. Recently he refused a tender by the city of $2,167.78 in gold, whereupon the city refused to cash it. It is understood the case will be fought out in the courts to decide whether he is entitled to a pension for his salary as city electrician in addition to fire chief.

BUILD WADING POOL AT JEFFERSON SCHOOL
The second outdoor moving picture show at the Jefferson playgrounds was given Friday night. The films were "The Little White Girl," "The Little Boy That One Was He," "Assault on Canyon," and "Repair of Time."

The wading pool at the grounds, near the east entrance, is rapidly being completed. A cement walk is being placed around the pool for the children to sit on, and a walk from the pool to the playground will be laid. A drinking fountain on the east side of the building has been completed. It will also be of advantage when school reopens.

trolled by some National authority that prohibits giving any consideration to the wishes of our men or officers of this railroad. We think that situation is not a desirable one to the men because if there is no one on the railroad with authority to agree to return to work they may wish to authorize their general chairman to represent them to that end keeping in mind we do not propose to discuss national settlement, but one that will affect the men of this company.

The president has outlined a plan for settlement and if there is to be one, it may be made by men at any point affected or they should insist on their general chairman assuming the authority necessary to make it, and you have the right to know what they propose to do.

We are receiving many inquiries from mechanics coming here from other points on our railroad, many of them good appearing men with cards showing them to be railroad mechanics, and we want to know the part of our men to control their own affairs on the ground or instruct their general chairman to do so and without further delay.

STRIKE BALLOTS HERE FOR ST. PAUL CLERKS
Strike ballots were received here Saturday morning by St. Paul clerks. There are 35 of them here. Northwestern clerks received their ballots two weeks ago and are awaiting the decision by their general chairman on the outcome of the count and negotiations with the railroad executives. Clerks here are restless, demanding action.

An important meeting of clerks will be held at Eagles hall at 7:30 p. m. Monday at which all clerks have been urged to be present. J. P. Kennedy, Minneapolis, general chairman of the strikers of the St. Paul system, was here Friday night and addressed the men of Rock River Lodge No. 210 on the strike situation.

No speech at Church. No official of either the Northwestern or the St. Paul accepted the invitation of the Rev. C. E. Egan, pastor of the Methodist church Sunday night. Mr. Egan will talk on "Strikes: Are They Necessary? Who Wins?" The Sure Way to Win? He wrote to the railroad but got no response, said Mr. Egan.

Commenting, Mr. Swan of the strikers, said: "If they haven't anyone from the company to meet, we consider it an admission that the facts we presented at the church last Sunday night were correct."

Picnic at Pines. The strikers' picnic will be held at the Pines on Wednesday, Aug. 2. Committees are to be announced next week. Mr. Swan expects to go to Madison Monday morning.

Additional help has been employed by the St. Paul here. The Northwestern continues to mark time with no men at work. Trains are all running late. Complaints are getting more numerous of delayed freight shipments.

TAR AND FEATHER STEVENS POINT WORKERS
Stevens Point, Wis., and William Mansavage, employees in the Soo line yards here, were brought to a local hospital after being attacked while en route home, seven miles east of here. After being dragged from their car and taken into the woods, Wiza was stripped to the waist and a coat of tar smeared on his body, while Mansavage was pounded on the head and body and rendered unconscious. The guilty parties are believed to be known and arrests are expected. This is the first trouble in the carmen's strike here.

$670 JUDGMENT IS GIVEN LUMBER CO.
A judgment amounting to $670.76 and costs was awarded the Brighthouse Lumber Co. against William Robinson, in municipal court, Friday afternoon. The judgment was given on coal and lumber purchases made by Robinson this spring.

PLAN PROGRAM AT PLYMOUTH CHURCH
Preparations are being made for a program at the Plymouth Methodist church on Thursday in which there will be several features. One will be a drill "Hall to the Floor" by the boys of the choir of the "Gods of Liberty," will appear with their torch. A Maypole dance will be given with the queen of summer and her court. Refreshments will be served and three electioneers will take part.

STOLEN IN ROCKFORD.
Police Sergeant Charles Handy was notified at the theft of a Ford sedan in Rockford, Friday night.

Popular Girl of City Dies at 21

Miss Gladys Elaine Hanson, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hanson, died at 5:40 Friday afternoon at her home, 515 Milton avenue. Miss Hanson was born in the town of Bradford where she attended the district school. She was graduated from the local high school in 1917 and from the Janesville Business college in 1919. Her parents moved to the city in 1919 building a home on Milton avenue.

For the past two and one-half years Miss Hanson held a position in the office of the Parker Pen company which was to have taken place last March. Failing health caused the marriage to be postponed indefinitely. She was popular among her fellow employees and other friends. Those who survive are: Her parents, one sister, Mrs. William Schmaling, Lima Center; two brothers, Everett H. and Herle Hanson, both of this city.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday from the home. The Rev. J. Marks, Emerald Grove, will officiate. Burial will be in the Emerald Grove cemetery.

Don't forget to take your Kodak with you tomorrow.

MARRIAGE LICENSE BUSINESS IS DULL
A lull follows the storm. That's the only way to explain the marked absence of the pranks of cupid as indicated by the number of marriage licenses issued from the office of the Rock county clerk. With the record breaking month of June, preceding it, July has been very quiet. The only license of the week was applied for Friday by Edna A. Kuppe and Agnes Clippert, Beloit.

TRUCK TOURISTS REACH LOS ANGELES

THE GAZETTE'S PLATFORM

Send every citizen to finish the high school building so it may be used before the end of 1932. With the completion, the problem of the high school is solved.

Janesville needs and should have ample hotel facilities to care for the public. That will be a community credit to the city.

Finish the paving of the high school streets
as soon as there can be the necessary adjustments in taxation so as not to place a heavy burden on the people.

Give the city a new fire station. There is now available $10,000 for this purpose and it should not be used for any other. Finish the city and county building.

Memorial Building for World War soldiers,
the living and the dead—to be also an historical building.

THE EFFECT OF STRIKES

A strike, the result of a difference over wages
or of labor laws, and there have been about as many strikes over union recognition as there have been over wages, is a matter of concern to everybody. Here in Janesville it comes close home to us since the men who are involved are our friends and neighbors. There is a great loss here in wages paid—not so great figured in a lump sum for the men who are out at Janesville, or something like $6,000 a week, but in the aggregate over the nation the loss is enormous, so far about $300,000,000. That is for the men. For the railroads the loss is even greater. Restricted train service, idle cars, cars that need repairing
and while-laid up are earning nothing—a hundred ways there are for loss to the roads beside the few dollars saved in wages of the striking men.

But not to the men and the roads alone comes the loss. The disturbance to the normal regulation of business, the removal of the wage money from the channels of trade, the failure in seasonable weather to provide for reserve stocks of goods, coal, iron ore and steel, and the movement of crops to market, entail enormous losses spread over a period of time. Wheat in Kansas is ready to go to the seaboard. Fruit on the Pacific coast is almost at a point where the facilities of all the railroads are taxed to the limit to get the crop to the market while fresh and salable. Failing in that the east is without the fruit, a great trade is disrupted or paralyzed, and in a hundred ways
the whole fabric of commerce is torn and shrunk.

We believe that the wage workers here and elsewhere will agree that the manner in which wages are fixed is wrong. There may also be a situation which comes from a strike that makes a strike order a hardship for one with a family of children and another with less family and few obligations may suffer less or not at all. These are some of the inequalities of the strike for the striker. Long ago we started to find a way to end all labor controversies by something besides strikes. We have never arrived at that happy state. Perhaps we never will until we reach the millennium and most of us may not be here then.
But until we do find it and also formulate some economic system which will enable us to determine how wages may be fixed so that there shall be a full measure of justice, we are still groping blindly. One extreme is the abolition of the wage system in its entirety. That is the plan of Marx and Engel and the later socialistic writers.
It has been tried in Russia to the end that industry has been destroyed and great want and chaos
has taken the place of an orderly existence. It is likely that we will have the wage system up to the time that chaos comes upon the world and ruin reigns supreme. Government ownership
will not evade or avoid the problem nor will it stop strikes until we have a method accepted by both parties to the agreement for making a scale of wages. The strike can never finally settle anything.

It has developed that the wage question is not so much a bar to a settlement of the shopmen's strike as is the determination of the railroads to arrogate the rule of seniority. This is a peculiar situation since the seniority rule was established by the railroads themselves. The railroads demanded that in ten days the men go back to work and if they did not their rights of seniority would be abolished. The men did not go to work and the railroads could have settled the strike by restoring these rights but refuse to do so. Seniority looms as big among the shopmen and roads as it does in the United States senate.

If the railroads wish to break up the unions
they have taken a decidedly wrong course to do it. It might have been much better to have gone at the problem of wages with some hope of adjustment. In the end there will be added loss to the roads and to the men and to the public, irreparable loss. Whoever wins will lose. The railroad have long since gone out of the realm of private corporations and are a part of the very life of the nation. There is so much thing as an isolated community, self sufficient although anymore. We are all interdependent and transportation is as vital as is the food it makes possible
to life and prosperity.

What the public wants is the roads moving
freight and passengers and train service restored.
If seniority is the only obstacle in the way, the roads have no possible excuse in blocking settlement by insisting on it. They have had it as a part of the rail operating system for years and it is not worth smashing the whole economic world to fight over it. The strike may not be felt now when we can sleep out of doors without a blanket
but with coal rationed and a cold house for the poor man in the winter it will be another story.

Birth control, says an advocate, will abolish
war. Also the human race.

OUR NATIONAL ESTATE.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington—Every citizen of the United States
has an interest in an estate estimated to be worth at least $100,000,000,000, with a potential annual income of from $12,000,000,000 to $15,000,000,000.
Founders of great fortunes have agreed that their only real difficulty lay in acquiring the first thousand dollars—the thousands and millions came as a mere matter of multiplication. Upon that basis any man, woman or child who owns allegiance to the Stars and Stripes has only to cash in one individual share in this $100,000,000,000 estate to be in a position to go after the Rockefeller record for piling up treasures on earth.

Unfortunately, however, the estate is not in process of settlement or liquidation. Its real wealth and its title to a proportionate share of it is not to be disputed. It may increase largely in value
and no one can cheat him out of his part of it.
Yet he will never be able to borrow a nickel on his share and any benefits will be indirect.

This vast estate is made up of the public domain and natural resources, the title to which is vested in the federal government. Admittedly its value is hypothetical—a matter of estimate—but it has been placed at the figures quoted by Secretary of the Interior Fall.

Here are some of the items of this national estate, as the secretary calls it: 175,000,000 acres
of forest lands; 90,000,000 acres of grazing lands;
150,000,000 acres of arid and swamp lands; immensely valuable water reclamation; 120,000,000 tons of coal; 50,000,000 barrels of petroleum
and shale oil; waterpower that might develop 10,000,000 horsepower with industrial and commercial possibilities beyond estimate; vast deposits of potash, phosphate, gold, silver, copper and other minerals; and 150,000,000 acres of national parks.

Take the coal, oil, mineral and waterpower
items alone and it staggers the imagination even
to approximate the wealth producing possibilities.
It is Secretary Fall's idea that these resources
should be exploited by a system of leasing to private interests, and if his estimates are correct
the national debt could be wiped out in short order and the government's income would be such that it would not be necessary to levy taxes to meet expenses.

That, however, like the prospect of the individual citizen's ever cashing in on his share of the national estate, is something of an idyllic dream. The government has a constantly growing income from the development of the public resources, and the experiment of leasing oil lands
on a royalty basis is now being tried, but it is extremely doubtful that the country will ever embark upon an ambitious program of this kind.
There is too much politics in the proposition, or in any event, there is too much of a possibility for playing politics in connection with it.

It involves the old familiar fight over the question of conservation. On one side is the element that believes that the natural resources of the public domain should be carefully preserved and guarded lest private individuals and interests lay unholy hands upon them, profiting unduly therefrom. On the other side is the school of thought that the only sensible policy is to make these resources immediately productive and that this cannot be done by the government itself. Both groups declare that they are interested solely in promoting general welfare, but each is intolerant of the other's ideas and each calls the other names.
It may be added that such a strong case is made by each side that the average layman is unable to decide which is right.

While this debate is going on it is interesting to delve into history and ascertain when and how the federal government acquired title to all the lands that comprise the public domain. By the articles of confederation agreed to in congress,
Nov. 15, 1777, and ratified by the several states in the four subsequent years, the government of the United States was organized and pursuant to that action took possession of the unappropriated crown lands of Great Britain as the successor to that government. The treaty of 1783 was England's formal relinquishment of all proprietary and territorial rights in this country, leaving the ownership of the United States and the individual states undisputed.

The continental congress next passed a resolution recommending that the several states should surrender all their waste and unappropriated lands to the government, as a measure toward paying the debt incurred by the Revolution.
Each of the states held or claimed vast acreages
outside their own geographical boundaries. Virginia, for example, had almost 200,000,000 acres in the territory lying north of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi; Massachusetts had millions of acres now included in Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin; Connecticut had a territory almost as large as what is now northern Ohio, Indiana and Illinois; South Carolina held a strip 15 miles wide which now forms the northern part of Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi; North Carolina claimed what is the present state of Tennessee and Georgia had 50,000,000 acres in what are now the states of Alabama and Mississippi.

One by one these holdings were ceded to the federal government in some instances subject to certain financial obligations, until eventually the United States had acquired in this manner some 500,000 square miles or 320,000,000 acres, at a cost of $22,000,000.

Then came a series of events through which we took over holdings of foreign governments. First was the transaction with France in 1802, whereby the United States came into possession of the 757,924,920 acres, now known as the Louisiana Purchase, constituting a part of Mississippi, Alabama, Texas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and the eastern slopes of the Rocky mountains, and the Mississippi river. The purchase price was $15,000,000 but by the time the deal was consummated, interest
charges, claims, etc., had brought this to $27, 267,621.

From Spain we purchased what is now Florida
in 1819 and in 1848 Mexico ceded us 334,443,520
acres, comprising the present states of California,
Nevada, Utah and parts of New Mexico, Arizona,
Colorado and Wyoming. Two years later Texas gave us title to some 60-odd million acres, now constituting a part of New Mexico, Oklahoma,
and Colorado, and then came the Gadsden Purchase from Mexico of 30,000,000 acres now included in New Mexico and Arizona.

One of our biggest real estate deals was the purchase of Alaska from Russia in 1867, when we paid $7,200,000 for 378,195,000 acres. Hawaii was not large a transaction, but important, following which came our troubles with Spain as a result of which we acquired Porto Rico, Guam and the Philippines, in 1898. The year following, by treaty with Germany and Great Britain, we took over Tutuila and other small Samoan islands. The Oregon country, embracing more than 150,000,000 acres, was claimed by this government through discovery and exploration, and recognized by treaty with England and Spain.
More recently we purchased the Virgin Islands
from Denmark.

When the senior senator was expelling his keynote reminds one of the Kansas orator who was talking to an outdoor crowd when it began to empty and no one was left. The crowd had gone to another part of the grove to see some Indians
cook a dog.

It looks as though the Missouri Reed bird was going to be frittiseed.

It now turns out that the season's rich American hewer married a postman's son in England
because he was a "heavenly dancer," whatever that sort of animal is. Soon he will be dancing up to her pa to get a little pocket change.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

HOPE.

There is no hope for the beasts of the field,
They suffer pain and die.
Their young become the hunter's yield,
One bitter, anguished cry
Marks the despair which death has wrought.
Love has been theirs, but all for naught.

But Hope God gave to woman and man
Who see their loved ones die.
And ever since first this world began
Though we wonder and question why
Hope whispers low: you shall love again.
And joy shall follow your hours of pain.

Death is death to the beasts of earth,
But man has a soul divine.
And the passing on is a royal birth
To an ever new line.
And hope shines out through the darkest day—
They still live on who have gone away.

Who's Who Today

FRANCOIS P. GARVAN.

The efforts of the government to force the Chemical Foundation, Inc., headed by Francis
P. Garvan to return to the government patent rights sold to it by act of congress during the Wilson administration, has brought Garvan into the spotlight.

Garvan became acquainted with the details of the dye and chemical patent affairs while serving in several government capacities during the war. In November, 1917, Garvan was appointed director of the U. S. bureau of investigation and manager of the New York office of the alien property custodian. On March 4, 1919, he was made alien property custodian and assistant attorney general.

He is now president of the Chemical Foundation.
Garvan was born in East
Hartford, Conn., June 13,
1875, and studied at Yale,
New York University law school and Catholic University. He began the practice of law in 1898. He held the office of assistant district attorney in New York from 1900 to 1910.

He is a Democrat and has taken a prominent part in Irish organizations.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

What They Didn't Explain.
(Stoughton Courier-Hub)

Gov. Blaine has come and gone, and so has Sol Levitan. Both were here to gather our votes, one for governor and the other for state treasurer. While here, they told about tax dodgers and profiteers and a whole lot of things that were about as interesting to Wisconsin taxpayers as Hebrew literature, but they did not tell us how to start our factories, although they must have known our laborers need work. They could tell how to pull the internal organs out of business, but could not tell us how to build anything up. All the while they left with us would not aid in turning a grind stone to sharpen a scythe. They told about catching tax dog-gers; but they never mentioned the name of a single dogger so as to afford an opportunity for verification of their statements. We have had Stoughton for nearly two months, off and on,
public officials looking for tax dodgers, and the only fellows they caught were a few poor people, mostly laborers and farmers, who honestly supposed they were not liable to pay a tax, and who failed to do so. These were not the dog-gers from five to ten dollars each. Only the poor, or those in moderate circumstances, suffered this fate. Why did they fail to name a single tax dodger whom they had compelled to disgorge? If they had done this, an investigation might have disclosed tax dodgers, like those caught here? Neither the candidate for governor nor state treasurer had anything to say about reduction of taxes, a subject in which we are tremendously interested for we clearly see confidence in our property through excessive taxation unless some remedy is speedily provided.
They had no remedy to suggest. They did not think a little matter like thirty millions of annual tax was as important as Newberry and Michigan politics.

Yes, the governor has come and gone, and so has Sol Levitan. They did not name a single person from persons who have not the perspective power
to see, nor the mental power to analyze, conditions. One thing is certain, they did not tell us how to stop tax extortion, although they must have known of our interest in that subject.
They told us about nothing but Newberryism,
about the Stephensonism, a parallel of Newberryism. The things upon which the electorate of Stoughton wanted light were left darker
when they quit than when they began. Old plattitudes old discarded tricks. We have long suffered, was offered a substitute for constructive statesmanship. But they were cheered by men whose contributions to industry and the betterment of the human race are largely composed of hollow cheers and vociferous applauding of those who do but what they have not the genius to build. What the voters of this vicinity want is constructive statesmanship, men who build up, who improve conditions of labor, who establish enterprises that give employment to labor; not men who tear down. When our factories run at full blast, labor is satisfied. They want to know what factories are the laborer's best friends; the men who destroy them are the laborer's worst enemies. Newberryism and kindred irrelevant stuff will not answer our purpose. We want less corruption, less government, less waste, less corruption, and we want to manage our own affairs, or at least have something to say about their management. Give us back the right to control our own concerns, a right which the radicals took from us under the guise of "progressivism."

SOFT PLEASURE IN HARD ARTERIES

People had blood pressure as well
as soft pleasure in hard arteries.
Arteries accounted for the hard
and even autotoxification
long before grandpa was born, only they didn't talk and read so much about it as we do nowadays. They just grunted and bore it or turned up the nose and said the doctor was wrong. Blood pressure has always been, at least since Adam was given something to worry about. But after all, it is a good thing we have blood pressure, for it is absolutely essential for the proper circulation of the blood. So when you hear of any one having blood pressure you may know that at any rate he is still alive.

Arteries began hardening in living man long before Harvey with his position as a copy book character, only in the old days the doctors weren't so arbitrary as they are now and didn't conclude that the hardening in the arteries counted for the man's age. For all they knew the man's entire system might be undergoing a similar degeneration, though they could only speculate about it, because it was illegal or immoral or scortif-cious to state the inside investigation of such matters.

The fancy that a hardening process
in the arteries is the determinant factor or senility of old age is founded upon the most primitive study of the arteries. With a finger on the radial pulse or temporal artery one feels the artery and rolls it under the finger.
The arteries of the aged are most frequently palpable; ergo, "The man is as old as his arteries." But it is a more accurate study of the arteries
of the aged than the study of the oil, though the man is just as surely as old as his skin, the woman too. Still more skill is required to determine the condition of the muscles, or the veins, or the various organs, yet the man is as old as the oldest of these.
Much more delicate correct and scientific to say a man or woman is as young as he or she can jump high than to say he or she is old as his arteries from the rig of the arteries.

An individual whose blood pressure
is markedly greater than the normal (and I decline to tell anybody what the normal is for any age) commonly has arteries which can be distinguished under the finger, and this fact readily suggests to the inexpert hardening of the arteries. But when and if the excessive blood pressure is brought within normal bounds again,
the arteries become elastic, for now the arteries cannot be palpated. Increased blood pressure is not necessarily indicative of hardening or hardened arteries. On the contrary, the examination of a series of persons
has shown that the arteries of persons with high blood pressure are not hardened (hardening of the arteries) domes-trates that a considerable share, per-

Q. Is maple sugar made any place
outside the United States? F. V. J.

A. The production of maple sugar and maple syrup is purely an American industry. Canada being the only country other than the United States
where they are made.

Q. In speaking of strength of mat-terials, what is meant by stress and strain? H. E. O.

A. There is much confusion among writers as to the definitions of these terms. An external force applied to a body, so as to pull it apart, is resistance, and the action of these forces causes a displacement of the molecules of the material. By such displacement the material is called stress and the internal force, strain. By others the names are reversed. This confusion of terms is not important, as the words are commonly used synonymously.

Q. What country keeps the best vital statistics? C. P. T.

A. France has the most perfect system of registering births, marriages and deaths. The United States has no national system, but registration of vital statistics are made through state laws in many states.

Q. Who determines the size, shape and color of postage stamps?
M. L. W.

A. Postage stamps are designed by the bureau of engraving and printing, and the approval of the postmaster general.

Q. What can be combined with fish in salad to give it more bulk and still retain the fish characteristics? E. T.

A. Macaroni, rice, peas, corn, part celery and one part apple fills this requirement.

Q. Why couldn't the price of gold fluctuate? O. L.

A. The price of gold is fixed by international agreement.

Q. Where did the walrus originate?
H. D.

A. The walrus is of French origin,
but was adopted and modified in Germany so that it is usually identified with that country. It became popular

Strikes of serious import again are indicated and one of these is to have a far-reaching effect. The aspect

the entire summer.

Schemes good and bad will flourish
during the coming months when or-

Q. What is the difference between raisins and currants? L. C.

A. The word raisin is generally used to refer to the dried grape.
The principal and most valuable class of raisins is the muscatel. The seedless raisins of commerce are largely Sultana grapes.

Q. If a mare died when a colt is foaled, what should the colt be fed?
N. S. H.

A. Usually a colt can be raised successfully on cow's milk. Use half milk and half water and add sugar in the proportion of one-fourth pound to each gallon of milk.

"Only the party discipline and the

"If we would permit it, the com-

Why Do We Merchandise?

We are not in the business of selling gas appliances merely for the sake of making sales. We are not in this business to compete with other merchants. It is merely part of our service to consumers. Good gas must be used in good appliances to give satisfaction.
We regard it as part of our duty to place such appli-

Screen and Stage

Norma Talmadge and Harrison Ford in "Smilin' Through"

Theaters will observe "Smile Week" all next week, and all managers are putting on special programs that their patrons may indeed "smile" when they come to the theaters as well as when they go in.

At the Apollo. "Let's Go Smiling Through 1932" will probably be the first picture to those who are tired of many modern modern pictures, after they have seen "Smilin' Through" at the Apollo next week, starting Monday and lasting through Thursday.

Accompanied by the screen's greatest productions, and among the two or three great pictures of 1932, "Smilin' Through" has been awarded by the people since the last week's screenings of it in large eastern cities were greeted with such a unity of commendation by all critics. It has been the most-talked-of picture since its appearance, and is known in shops to many who are the least interested in pictures.

When a metropolitan daily speaks of "Smilin' Through" as the picture of the week, it is not only a compliment, but a statement of fact. The picture is a masterpiece of the screen.

The drama, this newspaper states, is like no other. It is a masterpiece of the screen. It is a masterpiece of the screen. It is a masterpiece of the screen.

A woman, loyal, true and upright, with the deep-rooted love for home and children, that is the heritage of every woman, a man whose creed has been to get gold and whose highest ideal of marriage is the perpetuation of his name and race so that more gold may be left for his children, has in the journey of life lost her more noble instincts, and has become a cold, calculating, and faithless man. A sudden, unexpected tragedy which threatens to leave an everlasting mark of shame on the principal characters that make "Salvage" interesting. Mother Eve plays a big part. A good cast supports "Salvage" in this picture, which is to be seen Sunday and Monday.

On Tuesday and Wednesday will be seen the Hammerstein picture. These performances are to benefit Mrs. R. C. Bremer's corps. Tickets are now being sold.

The story of "The Way of a Maid" is interesting, and the picture makes it an ideal number for summer showing. It is about the life of a young girl who is taken from the part of a maid, and is later forced to carry it out. Miss Welch plays opposite Miss Hammerstein.

Tom Mix in a new role is scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "The Rough Diamond." Mix, who usually plays western roles, in this picture is the young cadet and soldier of fortune who gets into a European tangle.

Larry Semon in "Dull Care" will be seen on Tuesday and Wednesday. The picture is a comedy, and will be seen in the afternoon. It is a comedy, and will be seen in the afternoon.

Explanation

Smile Week is a week where everyone endeavors to be pleasant, agreeable, and wear a smile. This is one of the late ideas. It has been put on in a good many of the large cities with great success—to stimulate interest and secure the best results, it has been developed into a contest. The Gazette Smile Week Contest will be confined to Managers and Clerks of Janesville Retail Stores only. The winners to be decided by ballot. Pick your choice of Janesville's most pleasant store manager, department head, or sales clerk, fill in his or her name on the ballot, clip the ballot and deposit it in the ballot box at the Gazette Office or mail it to Gazette Smile Week Editor.

Contest Rules

The stores whose names appear on this page are the STORES IN THIS CONTEST—the person you vote for must manage or clerk in one of these stores—any names which are turned in of outside clerks or managers will not be valid—read these store names carefully so your votes will all count.

Each person can vote as many times as he wishes, but each vote must be on a Gazette vote ballot. The Vote Ballot will be printed in the Gazette, July 24th to July 26th inclusive. Clip the ballot every night and vote for your candidate.

NORMA TALMADGE in 'Smilin' Through'

PROUD—yes, proud we are to present the consummate dramatic achievement of the truest of all screen artists—Norma Talmadge. The World hails her as the first to reach perfection in her art; acclaims "Smilin' Through" as the wonderful symbol of that ascension. Elusive, tender, dynamic, overwhelming, her drama knows no bounds but those of the human heartstrings. One artiste only could bring "Smilin' Through" majestically to the screen. You'll love her in it.

Your Vacation.

Oxfords for Hiking.

Vacation days are days of out of doors. Whether you go to a fashionable resort or to the woods, you will be doing a lot of walking. You'll need oxfords—for oxfords are the shoes that will save your feet and stand hard wear. Fancy shoes are for dress. You'll want them, probably, but if you want to get the most enjoyment out of your vacation, you'll have oxfords for walking.

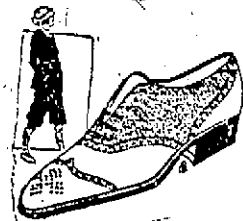

You can get your vacation oxfords now in smart styles at a very substantial saving.

Oxfords are correct shoes to wear with knicker suits. Just now they may be one of the attractive sport styles, or plain oxfords. A little later when Fall Days come, the plain oxfords will be best.

The GOED ARM

by Isabel Ostrander

What horrible power was forcing the three Drake brothers, HOBART, the Wall Street broker, ROGER, the scientist, and ANDREW, the returned convict, to place themselves in ridiculous situations? Scattered, muddled, and weary, the three were terror-stricken. Some power forced Hobart to deliver a mock speech in a public square, a power to sit on the parlor floor and play with toys. They were, as unknown to them, PATRICIA DRAKE, daughter of Hobart, secured O'NEILL, detective sergeant, and his colleague, SCOTTIE McCREADY, to investigate.

Miles is employed as a houseman and Scottie is to report as gardener. On his first night there, Miles discovered a letter from Hobart, threatening to commit suicide. The following morning a letter throws Hobart into a passion. Miles finds that the letter did not go through the mail. Scottie investigates the family at the country club and reports to Miles.

"General history of the family and the way the neighbors regard them," Scottie cringed. "I've come especially to warn you of a rumor of strange actions of Hobart Drake's in Wall Street today. He's home, the night."

"Yes, and calm and more self-contained," Miles exclaimed in surprise. "That's because his mind is made up," returned Scottie. "Unless the rumor is unfounded—our friend Hobart is planning to retire or make his getaway. He's started wind up his business affairs. Overheard anything?"

"Nothing."

Briefly Miles told his colleague of the events which had occurred since his installation as the pseudo house servant.

"Andrew is the only one who seems to be unaffected, but there is a forced and unnatural note in his boisterous cheerfulness. I don't know whether he's dealing with a bunch of lunatics or but that they are the victims of some obscure form of villainy that is unprecedented in the annals of the department, and I am on the problem myself. I'll be glad when you tackle your job here."

Miles watched until the bulky form had vanished. Then he entered the kitchen door and fastened it behind him.

He had started for the servants' staircase when a flickering glow from the front of the house made him pause with every sense alert.

Voluntarily he crept toward it and saw that it emanated from the drawing room. As he advanced the sputter of flames and hissing thud of a falling log came to his ears and then the dull clank of metal.

Carefully he drew aside a fold of the heavy curtains which draped the doorway and peeped in. There was no light save that from the tiny blaze burning in the grate. The place but against its glow he saw outlined a huddled, shapeless figure in a loose robe kneeling before the hearth and while he gazed a narrow tongue of flame leaped up, glittering on a heavy coil of silver hair which hung to the floor. It was Miss Jerusha Drake!

Holding his breath and moving silently inch by inch Miles slipped through the curtains and into the shadow behind a tall cabinet, from around the farther side of which he could gain a more direct view of the crouching form. It was swaying back and forth and now a low, indistinguishable murmur not unlike some weird incantation issued from her lips.

The flame died and Miss Jerusha drew a deep breath.

"Gone!" The mutter resolved itself into dull, monotonously intoned speech at last. Ashes, every one! It only the first had never been conceived this horror would not have descended upon us. They are destroyed, but their very fumes breed poison.

Her hands clutched at her throat as though she were indeed choking and for a moment the woman seemed on the verge of collapse. Then catching up a small object which had fallen on the rug by her side she rose and turned. A tiny pin-point of light shot out before her and Miles saw that the object she carried was an electric torch. Its every gleam, directing her face with the white of gray hair falling about it, into the semblance of the veriest witch.

He sank back fearful lest she discover his presence, but Miss Jerusha stared straight before her with the wild blank gaze of one who looks upon the hideous visions of a mind distraught and slowly, grimacing she passed from the room.

CHATTER VII

A soft rain was falling when Miles awakened the next morning and in the clear, gray light the scene which he had witnessed in the drawing room seemed vague and unreal. That creature with disheveled hair and crazed eyes could not have been the dignified Miss Drake, nor could that cryptic speech have issued from her lips.

Hastening out into the hall he opened the door of the closet under the stairs. Behind his door he had in its accustomed place and the handy man's first task of the morning was to take it to the postoffice.

There was no sign of life about the house and Miles saw that the kettle of boiling water and expertly steamed cup of two of the envelopes.

The first felt so bulky that he was not surprised to take from it a folded inner envelope inscribed: "Mr. Richard Reed. It is an undelivered letter, the accompanying letter was explanatory."

"Miles, dearest:

"I am going to ask a most tremendous favor. I am not allowed to see or even write to Dickie any more. It isn't that he has done anything, he is the darlingest boy alive and our families have decided to break up our happiness and Aunt Jerusha watched me like a hawk. You will put the enclosed letter in one of your envelopes and address it to Dickie for me. For heaven's sake don't fail me for I am simply desperate."

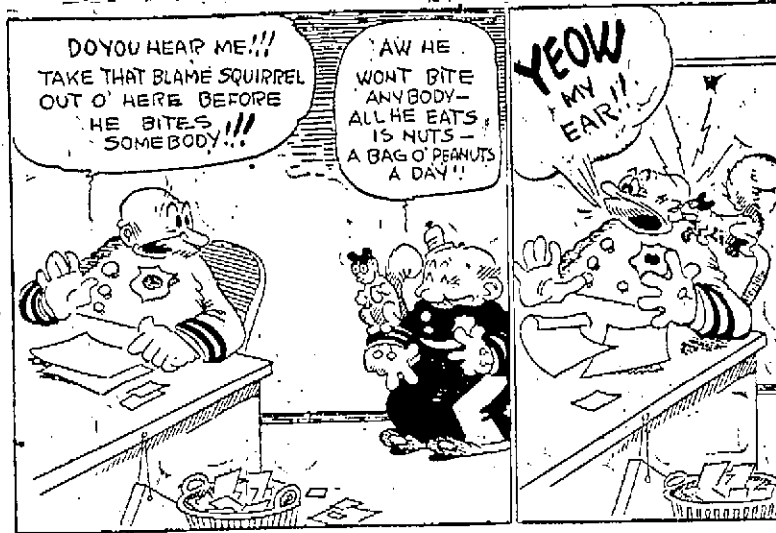

"Hastily but with fondest love, "Pat."

Miles smiled to himself as he resealed the letter with its enclosure, but his gravity returned when he opened the final envelope.

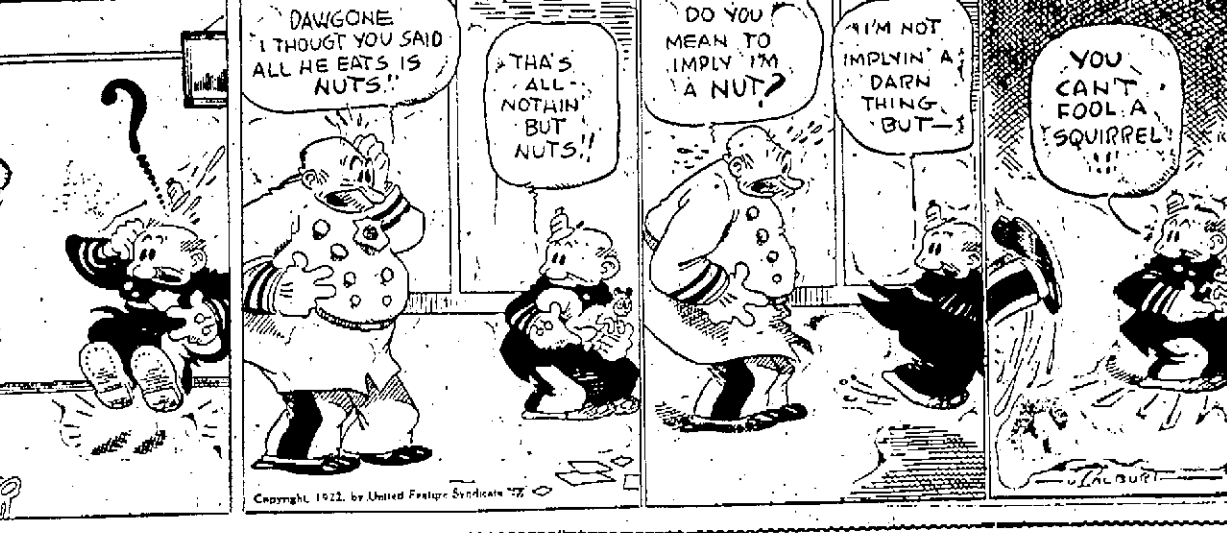

"My dear Brother," he read.

"I take my pen in hand to let you know that I am well and hope you and Aunt Jerusha are the same. The house has not been the same since Andrew came back from foreign parts. He was a boy only different but up to his old tricks. He played a joke on the houseman Monday and said he was a man over a speech he made in the schoolhouse last week. I am commencing to think they are not getting any more like they were years ago. When they first came into the money, do you recollect what I told you about their actions? Seems like it was yesterday. Miss Jerusha has not been herself lately and no wonder

"What sort of an island is this, anyway?" asked Ted.

"I've never been on it before, or even on Ten-Mile Lake, so how should I know?" answered Ned. "Except," he added, "that it seems like a regular island with trees and hills and water coming right up to the shore all around it."

"But why not play that we really are explorers and that the people who sent us, but expect to know all about the land we discovered?"

"All right," said Ned, beginning to show interest. "We'll remember all we see so we can describe it."

"But explorers make maps!"

"I always hated to draw maps in school," interrupted Ned.

"That's because you had to make them from memory. But here we are going to explore the island and map it as we go along. For instance, the little harbor where the stream flows in—and that beach there, we make like this—" and Ted took a pad of paper and pencil and outlined it. Ned became enthusiastic at once.

"Great!" he exclaimed. "We will explore and map our island so that anyone who had never been here could take our map and know all about it and could come to it later with the map and locate everything."

Ted nodded. Ned paused and shook his head. "But say, I don't know how to draw well enough. I can't make trees and things like real trees."

"That's easy," said Ned. "We had a drawing teacher in school who knew all about such things, and when we got tired of drawing maps in school, and so with pen and pencil they started out along the shore first and

MENOMINEE INDIAN EFFICIENT FARMER

North Wisconsin Tribesmen Splendid Examples of Aborigines.

[An Associated Press.] Menominee Indian Reservation, Keshena, Wis.—The Fish Trail from Chicago to northern Wisconsin, one of the first automobile trails blazed by wealthy sportsmen, has been made a luxury, runs through this reservation.

This summer a Menominee Indian, hearing of an automobile camper in the reservation, decided to try his hand at it. He removed the tarpaulin from his thrashing machine to keep the camper dry and warm. No tips were involved, but simply an act of courtesy.

These are the Menominees of today, whose historical character was described in a Washington Indian Service report thus:

"A woods Indian, the Menominee was a striking figure, generally six feet and over in height, a giant in strength; few in number compared with other great tribes, their bravery and fighting qualities enabled them to have their own with surrounding tribes. Their word once given could be relied upon."

Try Tribal Landings.

The federal government is working out an experiment with these modern Menominees, by trying to develop them through land holdings system, now a rarity in most countries. Among most American Indian tribes communal land holding has been abolished through acts of congress allotting 40 acres to each.

Work among the Menominees is under the direction of Superintendent Edgar A. Allen, of Keshena. The reservation, in northeastern Wisconsin, covers an area of approximately 100,000 acres, with about 1500 Indians, whose communal holdings total 231,000 acres, a large portion of it in timber.

Superintendent Allen says the Menominees are full of energy and are full of energy. One opened recently with a request by an Indian for a carriage harness.

"You do not need a carriage harness," replied Mr. Allen. "I am not going to give you a request for something to take you away from it."

"But I can't farm without a harness," replied Mr. Allen. "You cannot use a carriage harness for ploughing."

Indian Successful Farmer.

Later Mr. Allen led a Memorial day parade. The Menominees still have nine living Civil war veterans and a number of veterans of the World war. Later in the same week he took George Vaux, Philadelphia, one of the Indian commissioners holding presidential appointments, to the reservation.

Mr. Vaux, who has put 100 acres under cultivation, and has more than a dozen men working for him, including a few whites. This Menominee is the most successful of the reservation, the example of what the government is trying to do. For those who would succeed, the tribal system of land holding is a potential discouragement, because the lands are allotted there is no assurance that an Indian will receive that which he has developed, or even as much. This communal system furnished a fund to support the members of the tribe who are helpless, or so unskillful as to be unable to support themselves. Each Indian receives all the profits of what his own or his family produces, but the forest lands produce a community fund. This usually is small, the last allotment from it having been $10 a head for a year.

After the inspection trip Mr. Vaux and Mr. Allen attended a play given by Indian school children.

Neat and Orderly.

Automobiles have not reached the stage of civilized benefit on the reservation, but usually have been the start of hard times for their purchasers. There are about 20 machines among the 1,500 population.

Along with the courtesy of these Menominees goes a measure of neatness and order about their farms. Disorder and dogs are no more apparent than in other communities, but there are a few dogs with traditional habits for night prowling. At one camp this summer dogs broke into canned goods at night several times, getting little until they pried the cork out of a canister oil bottle. Most of the oil disappeared, and the dogs did not return the next night.

Normal Rural Lives.

To all outward appearances the reservation Indians lead about the same lives as other rural Americans. There is an experimental farm, a government logging and mill, and houses about the various headquarters that, for order and quiet, good taste and upkeep, might rival the farms of city businessmen. These are the government's examples, either self-supporting or inexpensive, to show the Indians what industry will do.

In an ice cream parlor one evening this summer several Indian women were chatting, most of them apparently from families of small but adequate means. The topic of conversation was how they could find their way in the woods, but how they were almost lost when they visited Chicago.

FILIPINO URCHINS STAGE IMITATION OF PRINCE AT POLO

Munila.—Since the Prince of Wales came here in the ship, a group of living in the vicinity of Forbes Field have taken up the sport. Polo as played by these youngsters, however, differs considerably from the matches seen by by the spectators.

The players are "mounted" on bamboo sticks some five feet in length which they guide with reins made from nipa. Their mallets are curved pieces of split bamboo upon the ends of which are fastened empty condensed milk cans as mallet heads. Between goals which are represented by a pair of old scarlet pantaloons hoisted on a stick at one end of the field, which is the direct leading of the polo club and by a torn emerald green camisa (shirt) at the other, the charging players knock a real polo ball obtained from the club.

One 10 year old player, captain of his team, in imitation of the Prince of Wales, after his accident, wears a black patch over his right eye. He also has at hand his personal "physician" bearing a wicker basket full of old medicine bottles.

Engineer's Civilization, Lawyer's Government, Says Speaker on Leadership

"We have an engineer's civilization and a lawyer's government. Although George Washington, our first president, was an engineer, there have been very few engineers in the government since, and until Mr. Hoover's selection none has held a cabinet position. This is not by way of complaint. It is a simple statement of fact, which if properly understood may do much to clear up some of the difficulties which confront America today."

So said Edwin Ludlow, retiring president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, recently discussing the necessity of engineering leadership in political life.

"It was necessary," he said, "when our republic was founded to turn to the lawyers for leadership. It required the technique of the lawyer to organize our code of civil procedure and it required the genius of a John Marshall to make this constitution work. But for thirty years or so it has become more and more apparent that American government has not been keeping pace with American life. It is idle to charge this to the perfidy of politicians. If a power plant fails to keep pace with the demands of the factory, it isn't due to the perfidy of the steam. If there is inefficiency, graft, selfishness and lack of interest for the public welfare on the part of officeholders, it may be that the officeholders aren't entirely to blame. There may be something wrong with the officeholders. Perhaps no one short of a genius could achieve anything much in such positions.

"Some people will perhaps steal under any conditions, but when there is unemployment—when there isn't a fair chance to function normally—a lot of men become criminals. The lawyer's way of meeting the situation is to put the criminals in jail. The engineer's way would be to put everybody to work. Both methods are necessary. But when conditions become altogether too much for legal procedure to cope with the need for engineering becomes most urgent.

"That," Mr. Ludlow continued, "seems to be the political situation today. Government has got away from the people. It hasn't been achieving what has been expected of it and politics has become discredited as never before. Elected due satisfactory results. The movements for 'more democracy' have been equally discouraging; the abolition of socialism, the direct primaries, policed officials, the referendum, recall and other measures, however people may hold to them in principle, have not solved the problem of how to make government keep pace with life. There is an alarming cynicism today, in fact, toward all things political. Isn't it time that the situation was calmly analyzed from every possible standpoint?"

HIS VAST FORTUNE ONLY A MYTH TO THIS FRENCHMAN

From Le Petit Parisien, Paris

Francois Mesnier of Argenteuil, formerly employed at the powder works in that town, has filed a claim with the French government for the estate of his great-granduncle, Jacques Bonnet, whose fortune has been estimated at 140 million francs.

The story, or rather the legend, of this fabulous fortune, merits telling. Jacques Bonnet was born in 1782, at Bionzac, a tiny village in the Charentes. Of an adventurous turn and somewhat of an enfant terrible, Jacques sailed for the Antilles with a shipload of emigrants when still a boy and, landing at Guadeloupe, entered the service of a ship owner, to whom he soon made himself indispensable. He won the complete confidence of his employer, who regarded him as his son, and when the ship owner died, he made Jacques his sole heir.

Bonnet bought plantations and became in time a member of the colonial council, in what was then the richest colony of the Antilles.

Where he died in what manner did die? It so happens that no precise information on this point can be found. His heir, who has been unable so far to find the death certificate, believes that Bonnet died at Port-au-Prince in 1855. It appears that the fear of the official register which bore the death entry has been torn out and lost.

Lacking this evidence, M. Mesnier could not inherit. In December, 1915 he obtained a court order declaring, in the absence of the death certificate, a presumption of death, for Bonnet, had been alive in 1915, would have been 150 years old.

Armed with the court's order, he then proceeded with his claim, and, two years later the Bordeaux court declared that Francois Mesnier residing at 125 Rue de Bassau, Angoulême, was entitled to all the worldly effects of Jacques Bonnet.

M. Mesnier filed the judgment of the court with the minister of colonies on June 15, 1917, and on June 19, 1922, sent a formal demand to the director general of provinces, under whose custody the estate was held, for the delivery of his inheritance.

M. Mesnier, however, is still waiting for his fortune and recently asked legal assistance to plead his case against the French state.

It seems that the provincial administration received due notification of the Bordeaux court's judgment and no question has been raised as to M. Mesnier's rights to the estate. But—and there is always a little "but"—the administration has never been able to lay hands upon a sou of the Bonnet succession and

Training of Navy Reserve Started

Chicago.—Because of the favorable action of congress in appropriating money for the training of the naval reserve to U. S. S. Wilmette, under the command of Captain Edward A. Byers, U. S. N. R., has been placed in commission and the training of the members of the naval reserve started.

The Wilmette will make a number of cruises to points of interest around the Great Lakes. Each cruise is for 15 days and many points of interest, such as Mackinac Island, Duluth, Buffalo will be visited. Last year the Wilmette was employed continuously in training the naval reserve from May 1st to October 15th; more than 1700 men reported for training and the vessel steamed 9,100 miles.

Two days were spent at Buffalo and every member of the crew had an opportunity to visit Niagara Falls. Mackinac Island was also a point of interest to the citizen sailors.

THE BUSINESS OF FARMING—DAIRY—FARM BUREAU—LIVE STOCK

SHEEP DO SERVICE IN CUT-OVER LAND

Can be Raised Profitably in Northern Sections of Wisconsin.

Sheep are profitable for the settler opening a farm in the cut-over region of Wisconsin, not only from the product of wool and mutton, but in the splendid work they perform in keeping down sprouts and killing small brush, says B. G. Packer, director of investigation of the Wisconsin department of agriculture. They consume vegetation refused by dairy cows and other farm animals. They give the rough and brushy openings a smoother appearance and within a short time remove wild plants, so good grasses and white clover may take their place.

"Grass grown in the shade of brush furnishes little nourishment for cattle," he says, "but sheep can get something out of it and pave the way for the dairy cow. In this respect they are of great importance on lands too steep or too stony for the plow. We are not so much concerned in the beginning with the tendency which their keeping has to enrich the land, although it is a big item, but when fenced in on moderate sized or small tracts, and frequently changed from place to place, they perform service of considerable value in bringing the new farm one step nearer its cultivated condition.

Do It at Profit
"And they do this at a profit. How much does it cost to clear an acre of land? Ask the man who raises sheep. For these reasons, among others, most farms in the newer parts of Wisconsin should carry at least a small flock, the number influenced by the liking of the owner for sheep and the care he is willing to bestow upon them; by the character of pasturage, and proportion of his farm fitted and desirable for cultivation, and his ability to buy them. So far as the new farmer is concerned, large flocks kept together will not be profitable, while a small flock pays off when fed as it should be.

Need Care
"There has been too much tendency among sheep owners in upper Wisconsin, and elsewhere for that matter, to let the animals shift for themselves. To get a profitable carcass, good feed of wool and healthy lambs from neglected ewes is wholly out of the question. The expense of keeping is least with flocks that are maintained in good condition. Respectfully time in feeding and around given is important. Timothy hay as it is usually cut is undesirable, but about four ewes can be kept through the average winter on a ton of clover hay with a liberal portion of root crops and some grain fed at lambing time."

Ship Ripe Fruit Under New System

(By Associated Press.)
New York.—A carload of tree-ripened apricots and small fruits shipped from California to test a new refrigerating system for transportation of ripe fruits was found to be in good condition for the most part when it was opened Friday. The apricots, cherries, plums and strawberries were in perfect condition. The raspberries, blackberries and loganberries were slightly moldy.

Forced to Cancel Big Stock Order

(By Associated Press.)
Waukegan, Ill., E. Gardner of Newell, Ia., purchased two carloads of Holstein cattle here, but was forced to cancel the order when the Chicago and Northwestern railroad refused to accept the shipment except at the owner's risk.

CATTLE MEN TRAIL NEW KIND OF THIEF

Annual Losses of 2 to 12 Per Cent Caused by John's Disease.

A hitherto little known cattle thief is robbing the herds of Wisconsin. Detective work done by B. A. Beach and E. G. Hastings of the agricultural experiment station shows that unless measures are taken at once to suppress the disease, it will prove a grave menace to the cattle industry. The old style of cattle thief made familiar to all by the wild west type of movie was comparatively easy to detect and to dispose of. The thief which modern scientific sleuths have been trailing is invisible and works imperceptibly but with deadly results.

In certain Wisconsin herds this affection, which is known as John's disease, has been shadowed for a number of years. Annual losses of from 2 per cent to 12 per cent have resulted.

Attacks Host Cows
The losses are bound to increase and the depredations will spread to other herds unless the breeders and veterinarians of the state unite to put an end to the menace. John's disease is somewhat similar to tuberculosis. It attacks by preference the highest producing cows in a herd. And before its presence is detected it may spread from the infected animals to others.

Infected animals gradually dry up in milk. They become thin and scrawny so they can be sold only as canners. If not so disposed of, ultimately they die of the disease.

How to Protect Herd
To protect a herd against this disease two things are essential—(1) a test of the herd by a competent veterinarian. The veterinarian, by the use of a product called Johnin, can detect infected animals which must be eliminated from the herd. (2) Care must be exercised in introducing new animals into the herd to see that they bring no infection with them. To make certain of this the health of the whole herd from which they come should be certified.

At the present time the disease is not widespread in Wisconsin, and preventive measures taken now would correct great losses in future years.

The importance of such action is shown by conditions in Denmark today. Investigators there say that the existence of the whole of one breed of cattle is dependent upon the ability of the Danish cattlemen to eliminate John's disease from their herds.

HEAVY RAIN SLOWS UP STATE HARVEST

Tobacco Better Than Average; Nights Too Cold for Corn; Wheat Good.

Milwaukee—Harvesting throughout Wisconsin was delayed by the heavy general rains, according to the weekly report of the weather bureau on Wisconsin crops, but they were beneficial to pastures and meadows.
"Nights have been too cool for corn," the report stated. "Corn is tussling in the ear in the south. Winter wheat is good in most sections, and is being harvested in southern, central and western counties. Spring wheat is filling well, and is beginning to ripen in the extreme south. Oats are good to excellent and the harvest has begun. Rye is good to excellent and the harvest is well advanced. Barley is good and is beginning to turn."

Tobacco is better than the average, although heavy rain has damaged large plants. Sugar beets, cranberries, truck and soy beans and millet are good. Blueberries are of good quality, but the crop is short. Raspberries are ripe. Early cherries have been picked in southern counties and late cherries are ready for picking. Apples are only fair. Pastures and second-crop clover are excellent. Hauling is near completion.

Tokio—The clerks of Japan who heretofore have had few if any holidays during the year are hoping much from the inauguration of a weekly rest day by a large department store of Osaka. The Tokio Chamber of Commerce and other bodies have taken the matter up before the view to the adoption of a similar system here, where there are a number of large department stores conducted on American lines. Hereafter the stores have remained open seven days a week, the year around and the employees have had a few days at New Year's and during the Feast of the Dead in summer.

Why are You Selling Milk So Much Lower This Year Than You Did Last Year?

Why the difference of from 40c to 75c per hundred weight? But never reached the low price so far in 1922 that it did in 1921. Did you ever stop to think it over?

If you do not believe it, get out your statements for last year and compare them with this year's. Last year the Marketing Company had something to say about prices. This year you are taking what the large dealers are offering you.

The Committee of Nine recommended a 50-50 division of proceeds on fluid milk. The farmer should receive 50c of the consumer's dollar. It is being done in St. Paul, Minneapolis and Superior, and is also being done in Janesville.

Note the following statement made by W. F. Schilling, President of the Twin Cities Co-Operative Milk Marketing Company: "In St. Paul and Minneapolis the dealers paid the farmers $2.30 per hundred weight the past five months and the public never paid over 10c per quart. The farmer around St. Paul and Minneapolis has received from 60c to 70c more for his milk and the consumer has paid even less than in Chicago where milk is sold for 12c a quart retail."

A few statements made by Mr. Schilling, President of the Twin Cities Co-Operative Milk Marketing Company:

"At the present time you are cooperating to do nothing, while the opposition to dairymen's interests is co-operating to do everything."

"You will never succeed in the dairy business unless you do one of two things, either control production or regulate the marketing."

"How many farmers are prepared to say to their sons who are growing up on their farms that they wish to have them continue in the dairy business under the present conditions? Would it not be more remunerative for them to drive milk wagons in Chicago?"

"In Minnesota we sign up our milk contract for life and then we go to church every Sunday and pray that we may never die."

"A farmers' marketing organization must prove itself a real benefit to producers and a real service to the consumers as well to justify its existence."

"While the farmers are quarreling among themselves and making hay, the dealers are co-operating and playing golf."

Are we going to sit idly by and take what we are offered for our dairy products or shall we get busy and sign up enough contracts so that the Marketing Company will be able to say something about the price which we are to receive for our product?

The Rock County Farm Bureau believes that we must form a large organization of milk producers in this district. The Rock County Farm Bureau also endorses the contract made by the Committee of Nine and Mr. Sapiro.

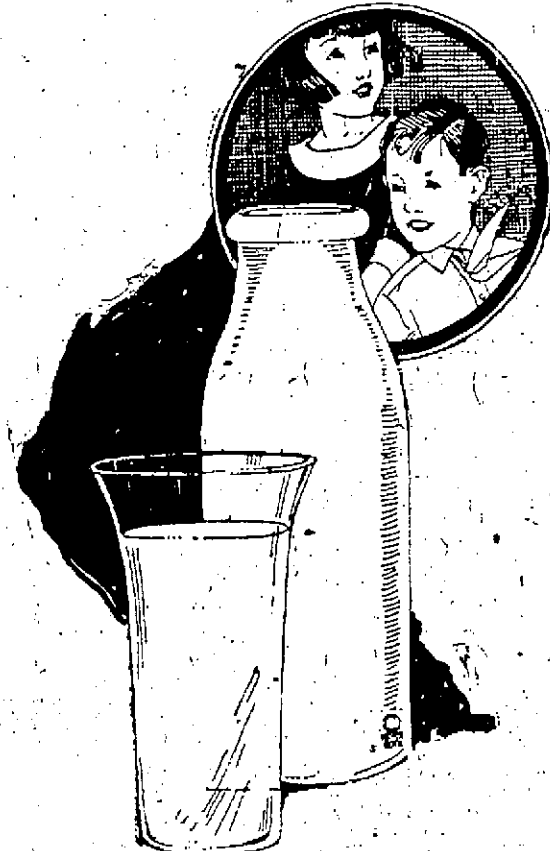

Beloit has had very good results already from the signing of the contract. Remember that there is no spread in the new contract. The man who is inside shall receive more than the man who is not on contract.

Let's "Make Rock County First" in signing up the new contract.

The Rock County Farm Bureau.

George Hull, president.

100 Watch Horses at Work--Big Week End Sports Bill

25 HORSES MAKE ROUNDS OF OVAL; ANOTHER TUESDAY

Indicative of early season interest in the harness horses here was the large attendance at the semi-weekly matinee at the Janesville fair grounds Friday. Approximately 100 lined the fence between the bleachers and the grandstand or on the stand. A number clocked the horses as they beat around the oval. They were enthusiastic.

There was nothing sensational in Friday's practice. Twenty-five horses were on the track. There were not so many brushes as usual. There will be another matinee next Tuesday to which the public is invited.

James Conway of Edgerton, just returned from a trip to Connecticut was at the track giving his page the once over. His Birdie went the mile in 2:15.

Senator Swift of Highland Park, Ill., spent Friday here with his train, Paul Hayes. He looked over his mare, Arly.

John Nichols, Sr. of Wausau, who took third money at Ottumwa went the quarter in 1:04 which is a 207 gate. He is entered in the 215 gate.

Several stables will be shipped here directly from Ottumwa early next week.

Horse Shoe Meet Arouses Interest of Supervisors

That plans for the first annual horse shoe pitching tournament at the Janesville fair association have hit the right spot is shown by the publicity being accorded the meet in daily and weekly papers in Southern Wisconsin. Six papers already have devoted space to the meet and others have promised.

The first entry in the boys' class is that of Matthew Finnegan, Milton Junction. Second was sent in by Eugene Schmitt and Clarence Schmitt, 565 North Hickory street for the doubles.

The meet made its way into the council chambers of the Rock county board of supervisors Friday. Joe (Ringer) Downing, supervisor from Janesville, and one of the prime movers of the event worked up the interest of the legislators who went home with entry blanks to distribute among their constituents.

E. S. Lamoreaux, supervisor of Janesville playgrounds, lent his support to boosting the meet. He is distributing entry blanks to the playground directors and urging boys to join the procession.

Entry blanks can be had by writing to the sports editor of the Gazette.

Pecatonica Nine Meets Black Cats

Pecatonica, Ill., known in years past as a crack baseball town, comes here Sunday afternoon to exchange ability with the Black Cats on the North Washington street diamond. They promise a good attraction.

"Les" Pire, back in shape, will "be on the hill for the Pussies."

A new infield will represent the Meowies. Schoonick will cover the infield. The outfield will be on edge and Owens will play short, while Clatworthy will cover third. The outfield will have Raubacher, Condon, Hallert and Eckert.

BRITISH GRUMBLE AT SEASON'S BOXING

London — The English boxing season is usually considered ended by Derby day. This year it has been poor. "The shortage of competent performers in the three heavier divisions was never so marked as marked as now," says an English sporting writer "and among the little men there is hardly anybody with a real punch. Manifest successors to Jim Driscoll and Jimmy Wilde, in all probability will not be seen again in a serious contest, are yet to be discovered."

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

THE INDIVIDUAL races in the big leagues is unusually interesting this week. Ty Cobb is right on the heels of George Sisler in the American circuit. Smashing out nine hits, the Georgia Peach has come within 11 points of the loop slugging leader. Sisler is slowing up slightly.

IN THE NATIONAL league youth is chasing a veteran. Sauter of Chicago is in the select 10 after proving the sensation of the past week by keeping equal pace with Jake Daubert with a dozen hits in seven games.

MILWAUKEE is proving the heavy stick wielding team of the American association. The Brewers have four men in the Upper Ten, and has the honor of holding second, third, fourth and sixth. Kille of the Clarkens was replaced during the week for the leadership by Brown of Indianapolis.

THE HOME run chase continues in favor of the Nationals. Hornsby of St. Louis refuses to permit Tillie Walker to catch up with him. The Cardinal swatter has 26 round robins to 23 by Walker. As a passing comment, Babe Ruth has 15.

EXTRA base hitting certainly does not get any more conducive in the way of base stealing. The best pile of thefts packed together so far is that of Sisler of the Browns whose 34 is 10 more than the mark of Max Carey of the Pirates.

Chicago's fire department won second game of baseball series with New York.

Mrs. Melvin Jones won Chicago woman's golf title for third successive year, defeating Mrs. P. C. Letts.

Goblin, Cleveland Yacht club, de-clared champion Class II sailing vessels in Lake regatta.

Diamond Sparkles — The Giants can thank arithmetic for keeping them in the lead. The New Yorkers lost to Cincinnati Friday while the Cards, runners up, defeated the Braves by a one inning batting spree. Four percentage points separate the leaders. Brooklyn lost to the Cubs in the fastest played game of the season—73 minutes. Alexander holding the Dodgers to four hits. Bob Meusel hit perfectly in four times at bat and scored or drove in all runs. The Yanks beating the Tyres. The Browns pounded three Athletic hurlers for 16 hits and won. Indians won 10th straight game by blanking Washington and shoved Detroit out of fourth. John Collins' work at the plate gave Red Sox win from White Sox in 11 innings. Boston going in to seventh. Ring passed six men in less than six innings while Morrison allowed four hits and the Pirates shut out Philadelphia second time to make it three straight in series. Bloomington made 12 safeties, for 27 bases and Rockford lost.

Frank Mack, Seattle pitcher, sold to White Sox for $50,000 and players.

Oakland City, Ind., says Eddie Roush, Star outfielder of the Reds, reinstated by Commissioner Landis.

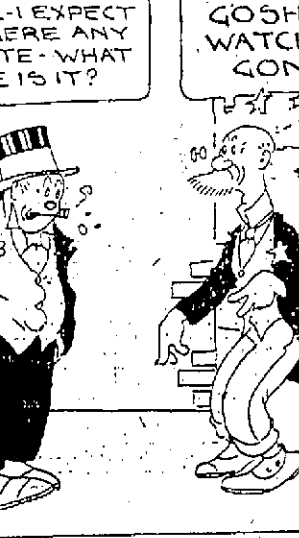

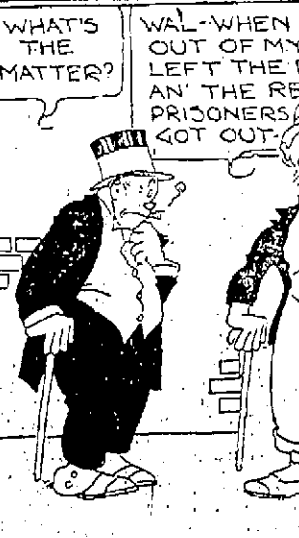

C. F. Wells will meet A. V. Lee, Jr. for Michigan state golf title Saturday.

Al Bick Is Back; Goes With Moose

Al Bick, southpaw twirler of the oldtime Red Sox, will make his first appearance of the season here on Sunday when the Moose take on Magnolia at the Fordson lot in Spring Brook at 2:30 p. m. He will be up against Post of no-hit no-run fame.

The Moose plan to continue in the field. Emerson Jackson and Bert

BRINGING UP FATHER

Base Stealing Almost Lost Art as Batting Rampage Continues

Above, left to right, Ty Cobb, who holds the American league base stealing record; Max Carey, present leader in the National league, and George Sisler, A. L. leader. Below, an exciting and successful steal.

Contrast these figures with those of half a dozen years ago when the leading pitchers were flitting with the half century mark at this time of the season and the base stealing champions each season hung up marks close to 100.

Last year the leading base stealer in the big leagues, Frank Frisch, stole 47 bases. This year apparently only Williams, Sisler and Carey have a chance to reach that mark.

The terrific hitting of the past few seasons is, of course, to be blamed for the falling off in the base stealing figures. The days when runs were shoved across mainly by timely singles—Texas leaguers—and heady and speedy work on the paths, have given way to the days of circuit clouts, triples and ringing doubles. It is only natural that the hazardous method of advancing by stealing is passed up for the much safer method of waiting on a bag for another crashing drive to move the runner up.

The American league record for bases stolen in a single campaign is 97 bases, pilfered by Ty Cobb in 1915. The National league record is 115, held by Billy Hamilton of the Phillies. He made his wonderful record back in 1891.

Among the other men who are making the most of the present conditions and adding occasional steals to the thrills of today's games are Jim Johnston of the Dodgers, Charlie Hollocher of the Cubs and Bibbo of the Pirates.

Tractors Revamp for Whitewater

Reorganized, the Samson Tractors of this city will play their first game under new management at Whitewater Sunday. They will line up against the Southern Wisconsin league battery of Fricker and O'Neill.

Charley Bick, erstwhile of the local Moose, will twist the pill over for the Tractors.

Victor Jersild is now manager of the Tractors. They will have a new lineup.

May Play Girl

When the Janesville tennis club's traveling team escapes out on the courts at the Whitewater Normal school Saturday afternoon, they may find themselves with a girl as one of their opponents. Word sent down from the teachers training institution is to the effect that Miss Suprud may be one of those selected to oppose the Bower club.

George Bennett, undergraduate champion of the University of Wisconsin, will be paired with Merrill Nowlin and C. K. Patton with Don Bolles as Janesville's representatives.

Whitewater will select their teams from Miss Suprud, and the Messrs. Lischmann, Watson, Kildow, Lovelace, Sahli, Larkin, Cullen and Lathrop. Both singles and doubles will be played.

WEBSTER RUNS OFF FROM DOUGLAS, 65-25

Webster cleaned up Douglas at the latter's grounds in a track and field playground meet Friday, 65 to 25. The results:

50-yd Dash—First, Gilbert Karl, (D); second, Alvin Apfel (D); third, Howard Hagan (W).

Standing Broad Jump—First, J. Gokey (W); second, A. Apfel (D); third, G. Karl (D).

Full Up—First, Eugene Delaney (W); second, A. Apfel (D); third, J. Gokey (W).

Big Shoot Monday at Fountain House

Port Atkinson—A 50-bird match will be the feature of the Blue Rock trap shoot which will be held at Fountain House, Lake Koshkonong, next Monday. The meet will be one of the most interesting held in Southern Wisconsin this summer.

Crack shots from Janesville, Beloit, Watertown, Wauwatosa, Milton Junction, and other places will compete. Preparations are being made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pfafflin, of Fountain House, for a big day.

Spring chickens will make up the large item of a dinner after the meet. The match is open to all competitors being invited to bring their families and friends.

BAKE-RITES MIX ON EDGERTON LOT

The Janesville Bake-Rites will jaunt over to Edgerton Sunday to clash with the Banyans of that city. Each has been beaten by the Oriskany Triangles and out for blood.

Donagan or Clark will be on the mound for the Bakers with Kettle catching.

JOHNSTOWN BRACES FOR EVANSVILLE

Having whipped together a fast lineup, Johnstown will travel to Evansville and meet the Giants at that city Sunday. Several of last year's Johnstown's team are back, among them Moterson, Callius, Kell-

RED SOX BATTLE AFTON ON SUNDAY

Janesville's Red Sox will play at Afton, Sunday the game starting at 2:30 p. m. The lineups:

Red Sox—Hennings, 2b; Utzig, c; Preuss, 1b; Burk, rf; Easton, cf; Miller, ss; Buchanan, 3b; Hoar, p; McDermitt, lf.

The Giants have made special preparation to make it a booster game. Johnstown will pitch Billy Carroll, former twirler of the Milton Junction Crescents.

Goodrich announces new tire prices

—lowest cost mileage ever known.

Effective July 20th, Goodrich establishes a revised price list that is a base line of tire value. It gives the motorist the buying advantage of knowing that whatever size tire he selects is of the same quality—the Goodrich one-quality standard. It gives him the longest mileage, the most satisfactory service and the highest quality his money can buy. Results will prove that it is impossible to buy tire mileage at lower cost.

AND you can be sure of getting ARCOLA with A radiator in each room. This Fall it may be different. Last Fall so many people wanted ARCOLA at the last minute that there weren't enough of these wonderful hot-water heating systems to go around. Our advice is to come now, while we have more time to do the work than we will have later on.

ARCOLA at lowest prices

For instance, here are approximate figures for ARCOLA completely installed to heat:

3-Rooms ARCOLA with 2 radiators $ 170.00
4-Rooms ARCOLA with 3 radiators $ 230.00
5-Rooms ARCOLA with 4 radiators $ 285.00
6-Rooms ARCOLA with 5 radiators $ 345.00

VACUUM TUBE SET CAN BE MADE BY ANY AMATEUR

By LLOYD JACQUET, I. R. E.
The regenerative or feedback receiver presents many points of superiority over the crystal type of receiver. It is more selective, more sensitive and provides for considerable amplification of signals through the phenomenon of regeneration.

Although it requires greater skill on the part of the builder to construct, and is more complex in operation than the crystal receiver, the results obtainable warrant the extra trouble and expenditure of money.

Because of the fact that there are broadcasting stations on long as well as short waves, a receiver which will respond to a range of wave lengths between 200 and 1,600 meters proves interesting as well as useful. There is a certain pleasure in being able to recently mounted on a bakelite or hard rubber panel 12x5 inches. The antenna condenser control may be located on the left, with the tickler control placed on the right of the panel. Between these two controls may be placed the antenna inductance tuning switch. A well-balanced

INDUCTANCE ASSEMBLY

PANEL LAYOUT

panel will result.
The only other apparatus needed for the operation of the receiver is the usual tube equipment.
The method of operation of this tuner will be described in an early article.

Questions and Answers

Would the following equipment give good results with a suitable aerial and ground for receiving the broadcasting stations: Three thousand-meter loose coupler, variable condenser, and crystal detector. Would I get better results by substituting a variometer for the variable condenser or by using honeycomb coils with a standard three-coil tuning? Can a regenerative set consisting of two variometers and a variable coupler be used with a crystal detector?

R. I. P.
You would also need a pair of telephone receivers in the above equipment. You do not tell what you mean by a "suitable" aerial and ground. However, the editor's opinion is that the 3,000-meter loose coupler is far too large to tune in the 360-meter broadcasting waves efficiently. Since you have not told where the variable condenser is located, it is difficult to tell whether it can be replaced by the variometer. If the variometer replaces the variable condenser in the antenna circuit it will have the effect of increasing the wave length. If the condenser is across the secondary winding it should be left there. You have apparently the wrong "dope" on the regenerative receivers. The thing that permits the circuit to operate as a regenerative receiver is the vacuum tube and the method of connection. Therefore a crystal detector is not commonly used in a regenerative circuit and expected to regenerate. If you use the three-coil mounting with a vacuum tube there is no doubt but that you will get better results. You will find it more convenient, perhaps, to use the two variometer and variometer arrangement with a vacuum tube, instead of the honeycomb coils, if you intend receiving on short waves only.

I am making a three-wire aerial and would like to know what size wire to use and also how far apart they should be spaced.

"A. Beginner."
If you use No. 18 or No. 20 copper clad wire, about two or two and one-half feet apart, and about 100 feet long, you will have an aerial suitable for receiving the broadcasts.

Is there any way by which signals can be brought in more loudly on a simple crystal detector, two slide tuning coil outfit? Is it possible to connect an amplifier bulb?

HENRY UBER
There is only one way to increase the signal strength of signals received with an amplifier such as yours, and that is to increase the efficiency of the set. This may be done by soldering every possible connection in the set by using the best kind of an aerial and ground, and by using a good crystal detector, and a pair of good telephone receivers. The method you suggest, of amplifying the signals with a tube amplifier has been tried. It is unsatisfactory and inefficient and it would be better to use that

The Fun Maker

Water Stunts and Games—Article 1

(This is the first of a series of three articles on swimming stunts, and games.)

Why lie around on the bank and get sun-burned? Why waste time telling stories or idly tossing sand on the beach?

As a matter of fact, few persons, whether they be men or women, boys or girls, know how to have the most fun in the water.

In a series of three short articles, of which this is the first, THE FUN MAKER will tell about swimming games and stunts, collected from people all over the country. There are so many of them that they will almost make a water circus. Any bunch of fellows or girls that will try out even half of them, will double the sport of swimming.

Shallow Water Stunts

First, are the shallow water stunts. It's surprising how much fun there is in playing common dry-land games in shallow water.

Take leap-frog, for instance. You can imagine that it would be fun, but you can't actually realize how much fun it is until you have tried it.

Or, for a change, get a rope and try a tug-of-war. It's an old stunt, but in the water it has a new thrill.

The Cock-Fight Next

The Cock-fight, where each fighter holds up one foot with his hand and butts the other fighter with his shoulder, is twice as much fun in the water. Maybe, though, when the girls try it, as in the picture above, we'd better call it a "Click-on Fight."

Horse and rider combats are much more fun, when there is a large splash after each rider is unseated. Hand wrestling in shallow water is most exciting. Even tag, or high and broad jumps, are twice the sport that they are on shore.

Try some of these, and watch for even more unusual stunts and games in the next article of this "water carnival" series.

EUROPE NO LONGER REVELS IN JEWELS

"Gem Jag" Subsiding After Post-War Deluge in Three Waves.

Paris.—Europe's four year "jewel jag" is about over, and the Paris jewel trade foresees the passing of the crisis in the trade that resulted from the dumping of about a billion francs worth of stolen, confiscated and smuggled jewels on the Paris market. Leonard Rosenthal, the jewel expert employed to value the Hapsburg treasure, says the collapse in the fortunes in their hair or worn in the linings of their clothing. Sometimes valuable stones were swallowed to be recovered by the use of emetics, and were even embedded in the flesh. One Russian prince sold for $500,000 a group of emeralds his ancestors bought two centuries ago for 480,000. One of the Czar's emeralds was sold in Paris for 2 times its cost. A Russian duke congratulated upon selling his jewels for 10,000,000 francs a year. "How can I live on 500,000 francs a year?" his pre-war expenditures in Petrograd varied between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 francs yearly.

The second wave consisted of jewels valued at 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 francs by the Soviets. The third wave was the dispersion of the collections of king and kinglets, princes and dukes of Germany and Austria-Hungary. The Hapsburg court furnished the treasure of 19 centuries and for this Emperor Charles' agents asked 50,000,000 francs but took between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000.

ADJUSTMENTS REMOVE HEADACHES

Chicago, Illinois.

To Whom It May Concern:

All my life I have been troubled with headaches and have been treated by some of the best physicians in Chicago. One physician, a stomach specialist, took an X-ray and said my headaches were caused by gall stones. None of these medical doctors gave me any relief and one year ago I started taking Chiropractic adjustments and since then have not had one headache.

CONSTIPATION, LONG EXISTING, VANISHES AND HEARING RESTORED BY SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS

Chicago, Illinois.

To Whom It May Concern:

For about twenty-five years I have had chronic constipation, and medicines only relieved me, but never cured me. Off and on for three years I have been deaf, and then finally I became totally deaf and remained so for three weeks.

I then took Chiropractic adjustments and my hearing returned, and I am no longer troubled with deafness. I am now having regular movements of the bowels and need no medicine or cathartics.

Before taking Chiropractic Adjustments I was in a very nervous and rundown condition and could not sleep; but now I am able to get a refreshing night's sleep. At the end of the day I am not exhausted as I was before taking up Chiropractic adjustments.

I can truly recommend Chiropractic as a wonderful science for the sick.

THE AD

WHITE WYANDOTTES—Martin Dorcas strain, the greatest all year round layers. Eggs for hatching, $1 per 15. J. A. W. Van Pool. Phone Bell 2155. 1926 Putnam Ave., Janesville, Wis.

THE RESULT

This ad was published in the Farm Exchange column last April. It produced orders continually during life of the advertisement which was 6 days. The advertiser states that his advertising investment was very profitable.

THE AD

PULLMAN BED, leather davenport. Good as new. $12 run. PHONE 1531.

THE RESULT

This Gazette Want Ad attracted about 25 calls for the two articles advertised. The ad ran 2 days. Furniture ads always pull splendid results.

THE AD

FURNITURE for 3 rooms, including piano, white enamel gas stove. Would like to sell all to one party. Leaving city. Will sell for cash or terms. Phone 3179.

THE RESULT

Sold the articles offered satisfactorily; receiving 19 inquiries for the davenport, 15 for the stove, 10 for the piano.

THE AD

WAX BEANS AND BEETS for sale cheap at 1032 Milton Ave. Phone 3615-J.

THE RESULT

Four bushels of beans and two bushels of beets were sold directly from 3 runs of the advertisement. The total inquiries numbered about 15.

THE AD

MILK ROUTE AND BUSINESS for sale by owner and all necessary equipment. Fine lot of customers. Business double last 3 months. Cash income daily. Leaving town. Cash or would consider trade for Janesville property. Phone 3656-M.

THE RESULT

Business is business, whether it is a milk route or factory or banking business, or any other that you can mention that is concerned. They all find Gazette Want Ads invaluable in the matter of finding cash buyers. The ad shown above resulted in a sale within 3 days.

THE AD

FOR SALE—Oak dining room table and chairs, walnut table, turned oak writing desk, Brunswick phonograph, Hoover sweeper, antique chairs, Wilton rug, $12; Oriental rug, brass vase, wardrobe, bedding, cabinet, sewing machine. Mrs. N. L. Sage.

THE RESULT

Have you any of the things listed in the above Want Ad? The ad ran in the Gazette just two nights. It sold almost all of the furniture. Undoubtedly it will sell the balance. But even that is not so wonderful as the fact that One Hundred or more people have made inquiries about the furniture.

THE AD

FARM WANTED—We have a 40 acre farm near city to exchange for 80 to 120 acres. Will give some one a good deal. Taylor-Kamps Land Co. Phone 228. 323 Hayes Bldg.

THE RESULT

This ad brought about a satisfactory deal within a few days. It also turned 20 other inquiries regarding the offer. The number of inquiries for all farm land offers that appear in the paper are increasing.

THE AD

FOR SALE—Early and late cabbage plants, early tomato plants, also cut tulips. Call H. S. Sewell, Rt. 1, Milwaukee Ave.

THE RESULT

Mr. Sewell ordered the above ad to run in the Gazette six times. However, it only ran three or four times when he ordered it out as he had sold all of the bulbs and other plants offered. "I sold about 10,000 of each kind," he said. This little instance is to call attention to the fact that people are buying things for the garden. If you have any of the mentioned articles for sale it is time to advertise them. Call Phone 2506.

THE AD

CABINET SIZE VICTROLA and high class records for sale. Cheap. If taken at once. Phone 3382-J.

THE RESULT

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS WANTED Right now is an opportune time of the year to sell phonographs and other musical instruments by advertising them on the "Gazette Want Page." The ad shown here produced a sale on the second day it appeared. There were all together 19 inquiries received.

THE AD

FOR SALE—One 9x12 Congoleum rug, one 3 burner oil stove and oven, one kitchen cabinet, one folding bath tub. Call day times at 523 Cornelia. Phone 1077.

THE RESULT

The above ad ran in the Gazette one Wednesday night and early Thursday morning the woman asked to have the ad stopped as she had sold all of the things advertised. Not only did she sell them but there were 19 or more other inquiries. The people who were disappointed in answering the above ad should use a Wanted to Buy ad and be sure of obtaining the things they want.

THE AD

WILLIS SIX SEDAN Recently completely overhauled. Body, upholstery, engine in exceptional condition. Must sacrifice soon for cash, $850. Inquired for more today. Dr. W. L. Johnson, Park Street Garage.

THE RESULT

This ad was ordered for three times, but was cancelled next day. Dr. Johnson said: "I sold my car through a classified ad in The Gazette. Do you want to sell your car? Try a classified ad tomorrow and get the same results."

THE AD

WAITRESS WANTED at once at the Park Inn. Apply in person.

THE RESULT

20 applications in quick succession to this call. Furthermore the class of help applying was very satisfactory to the advertiser. Gazette patrons express entire satisfaction with results from Help Wanted Ads in 90% of the cases.

Buick Takes Care of Buick Owners

Buick responsibility does not end with the sale of a Buick car. It follows the car throughout its entire life.

That is why Buick has organized a nation-wide authorized Buick service that extends to practically every city, town and village in the United States.

Buick owners do not need service often. But they have the comfortable feeling of knowing that they can always be supplied with genuine Buick parts and have their work done by Buick-trained mechanics wherever they may happen to be.

The Misplaced Spark

High Tension Ignition Current Is Readily "Led Astray"

THE ROTATING ARM of the high tension distributor, as it passes successively over the connections going to the several spark-plug cables, is supposed infallibly to direct the sparking current to the plug of the cylinder which is ready to fire, but under certain conditions, the "juice" may go the wrong way and make trouble. So long as insulation remains perfect, there is little chance of a current that is intended for one plug reaching another, but if conductive dust or a heavy film of moisture collects within the cap or even on its outside surface the high tension sparking current may follow along this dust or dampness to the contact leading to a plug other than the one over the connection of which the distributor arm is passing, thus causing a spark in the wrong cylinder and a missed explosion in the cylinder which should fire. The reason why the current may follow this improper path instead of the right one is that the compressed gas between the plug points, in the cylinder that should fire, may offer a higher resistance than the dust or moisture and the current will go, by an easier way, to a plug that is not under compression pressure. This may happen to be a cylinder which has drawn its charge and the piston of which is starting its up stroke and the charge may ignite, producing a back kick, or the action known as "bucking". As it is always a cylinder under compression and with a high resistance spark-gap that is due to fire, the tendency toward misdirection of the sparking current is quite strong. Weak insulation between plug cables may, of course, cause the same effect. Perfect cleanness and dryness of the distributor cap and track, a good contact between the rotating arm and its cable, the avoidance of too wide plug gaps and high insulation between plug cables, are the remedies for the misdirection of ignition current, which is a common cause of starting trouble in damp or foggy weather.

ENGINE PULLS WEAKLY WHEN HOT

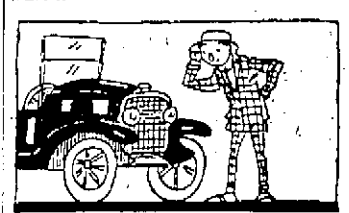

E. J. K. writes: "The engine of my car runs and pulls O. K. so long as it is only warm, but when it becomes hot, it does not pull as it should. Even when the mixture is lean, it does not seem to burn as it used to. Would a carburetor in place of the original one, eliminate this trouble?"

when the engine becomes fully heated.

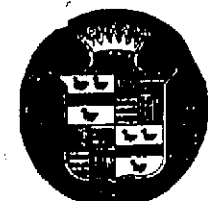

REBABBING FORD RODS

R. G. asks: "What kind of babbit metal is best for re-babbing Ford connecting-rods? Please give me directions for heating and pouring the babbit, as I have a proper jig for use in doing this work."

Answer: "Our established policy does not permit us to recommend any one brand of babbit metal as superior to others, but we think that inquiry at one or more first-class repair shops, where re-babbing is done, will disclose the names of brands of babbit or white bronze, which you can use with confidence. You can obtain, on request from the manufacturer of any brand which you select, full detailed directions as to how to work his metal to the best advantage. We hardly think you will find it will pay you to re-babbing Ford connecting-rods, as any service station will exchange a rod that needs re-babbing for a perfect one at a much lower price than you can possibly do the work, if your time is of value."

It would be an easy matter to sell Cadillacs on some outstanding feature, but it would be consistent neither with Cadillac policy nor with the best interests of the purchaser.

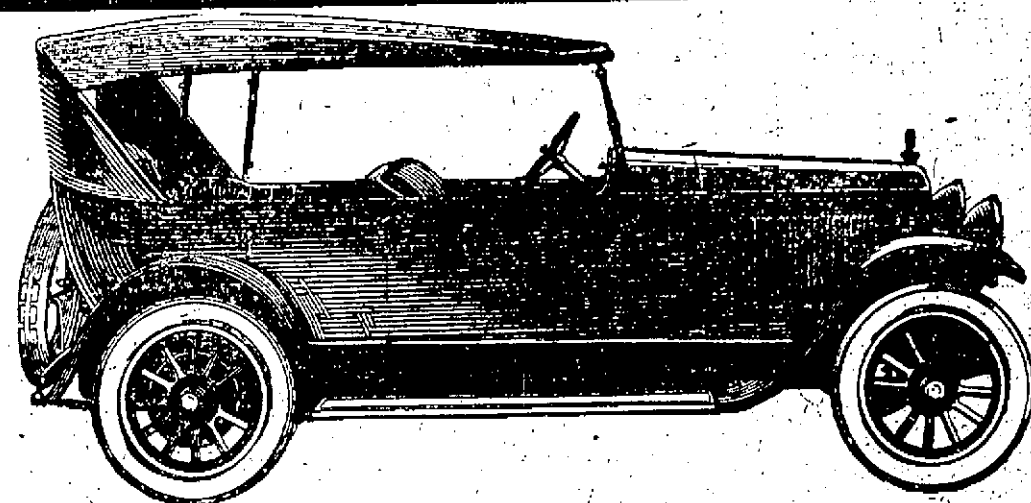

To take only one example of the many recent improvements, the new thermostatically controlled carburetor used on Type 61 would, on a car of less solid reputation, have been announced with the utmost impressiveness.
